United States Constitution Coins.

1987

Legal tender coinage designed and struck to commemorate the Bicentennial of the United States Constitution.

Come share in an historic tribute to America's most precious heritage.

Authorized by Act of Congress.

Two hundred years ago on September 17, 1787, our United States Constitution was born. It contained the promises through which we the people could live as one nation.

Now, to preserve this promise and to honor the 200th Anniversary of the U.S. Constitution, the President has signed into law Congressional Legislation authorizing issuance of United States Constitution Coins.

Designed to convey the strength and integrity of America's most precious document, and then struck with exacting care by the United States Mint, each commemorative coin is destined to be prized as a superb achievement in the history of American coinage.

Minted in precious gold and silver, these coins are sure to become treasured heirlooms of lasting beauty and value. Plus, as official issues of the United States Government, each will serve as an important reminder to all Americans to hold on to the promises of freedom.

For a limited time only.

United States Constitution Coins.

These splendid commemoratives are minted to precise standards and specifications by the United States Mint.

Silver Dollar. Struck in .900 fine silver and designed by Patricia Verani, the obverse features a sheaf of parchment and a quill pen with the inscription "We the People." The reverse displays a cross-section of Americans from past and present in a dramatic parade through history.

Gold Five Dollar Coin. Designed by Marcel Jovine, this .900 fine gold coin showcases an American eagle holding a quill pen on the obverse. On the reverse, the quill appears with the inscription "We the People."

Presented by the United States Mint in strictly limited edition.

As required by law, the United States Mint ceases production of these coins June 30, 1988. After this date the dies will be destroyed—assuring the coins' status as treasured heirlooms for generations to come.

Reserve your precious heirlooms today.

Because production of these coins is strictly limited, demand is expected to be high. We urge you to use the enclosed Reservation Form to secure your selection of United States Constitution Coins today.
